

Seamless data storage for your enterprise.

Experience secure, flexible and efficient data storage to meet your data management needs.

Our mission

STORViX is a visionary provider of innovative and secure data storage solutions. Our mission is to reshape how organizations store, manage, and protect enterprise data for an intelligent tomorrow. With a focus on simplifying and optimizing data management, we offer advanced technology and cutting-edge AI-driven solutions that deliver reliable and affordable data storage options.

Our purpose is to revolutionize data storage and management, providing businesses with efficient, cost-effective, and secure solutions. Whether optimizing storage costs, enhancing data security, or streamlining data accessibility, STORViX is committed to enabling organizations to focus on their core operations.

Products and services

Our core technology, AiRE IntelligentFiler, utilizes AI technology and its algorithms to optimize system performance, resiliency and cost efficiency for different workloads over time. AiRE is a true unified data platform that seamlessly stores and manages data across various memory and storage locations; edge, on-premises and in the cloud.

Our story

In a world overwhelmed by data, we recognized the need for efficient and cost-effective storage solutions. STORViX was founded with a vision inspired by biology and cognitive life science. The impressive abilities of the DNA molecule intrigued us to develop a smarter and more efficient storage solution that possesses the ability to learn, adapt, and adjust itself to the needs of the user. We envisioned our hardware as the heart that powers various data operations, while our intelligent software, driven by AI, acts as the brain.

Who we are

Our multinational team of dedicated data rebels operates in the EMEA region. We collaborate with global service providers, system integrators, and data centers worldwide, leveraging their expertise to provide seamless solutions to our clients.
